Boletín de cotización (Bolsa de Madrid)

Series SubSeries Studies Coverage Funding ...

Title: Boletín de cotización (Bolsa de Madrid) en

Abstract: The Boletín de cotización is the official price list of the Madrid Stock Exchange (Spanish: Bolsa de Madrid). Initially, it included daily spot prices of public bonds and corporate shares and debentures and forward prices (first or opening, highest, lowest and last or closing price only) of some public bonds, their nominal value and the amount paid-up on shares. Details on the previous price (date and quote in percentages) and on dividends and interests were added in 1903. The dividends paid during the previous and the current year were reported for shares and the interest rate and the date when the next interest payment was due for bonds. The total share capital in circulation, bid and ask prices and the annual highest and lowest price were added during the interwar period (1934 at the latest). Publication was interrupted multiple times, especially during the Spanish Civil War when no official lists were published between 17 July 1936 and 4 March 1940. en

Abstract

The Boletín de cotización is the official price list of the Madrid Stock Exchange (Spanish: Bolsa de Madrid). Initially, it included daily spot prices of public bonds and corporate shares and debentures and forward prices (first or opening, highest, lowest and last or closing price only) of some public bonds, their nominal value and the amount paid-up on shares. Details on the previous price (date and quote in percentages) and on dividends and interests were added in 1903. The dividends paid during the previous and the current year were reported for shares and the interest rate and the date when the next interest payment was due for bonds. The total share capital in circulation, bid and ask prices and the annual highest and lowest price were added during the interwar period (1934 at the latest). Publication was interrupted multiple times, especially during the Spanish Civil War when no official lists were published between 17 July 1936 and 4 March 1940.
